

THE HIGHLIGHT
THE SAN ANTONIO CHAPTER
QUARTERLY NEWSLETTER
VOLUME 50, NUMBER 2
2ND QUARTER 2024

HERE'S THE SCOOP FROM THE PRESIDENT

First of all, our prayers go out to colleagues at the LBJ Hospital in Houston and to those in the Denton area, who were recently both hit by tornados. We have taken measures to give some assistance.

Delegate activity is in full swing for the National ENA General Assembly, which will be held the first part of September. I have reviewed 10 applications from local Chapter members. What a GREAT step up to the plate from San Antonio ENA. Awesome!

There is a flurry of activity amongst us, with TNCC, ENPC, Stop the Bleed, different Falls Programs for the Elderly, a couple of Babysitter Courses, and especially in getting ready for our August 22nd Chapter Conference. It will feature Jeff Solheim as one of the Speakers. (See further into in the newsletter for details)

And with such pride & so deserving, is the announcement that our own Susan Douglass, is to receive the Judith C. Kelleher Award at the ENA National Conference this year, during the Anita Dorr Luncheon

Have a Terrific & Safe Summer,

Respectfully,

Barbara Baldwin, RN, FAEN
 SAENA President 2024

Pediatric Readiness

“What is Pediatric Readiness?”, you might ask. Nationally, pediatric visits account for approximately 20% of ED visits. Unfortunately, most of these children are seen in facilities that see less than 15 pediatric patients per day, along with an associated lack of pediatric equipment and training. Many agencies nationwide, including the Emergency Nurses Association, have collaborated in an effort to improve this situation.

Currently, Regional Pediatric Emergency Care Coordinators (R-PECC) are working very closely with 146 hospitals throughout Texas to champion pediatric care, doing simulation teaching and assisting with process improvement surrounding pediatric care. A few of the proposed new TX Department of State and Health Services (DSHS) rules for facility trauma designation, as of June 2024, will require all levels of adult trauma facilities to:

- a) complete a National Pediatric Readiness Project assessment annually and have a plan of correction for identified areas of needed improvement;
- b) pediatric equipment and resources must be immediately available including documented competency skills and training of the staff on the pediatric equipment;
- c) documentation of training on pediatric trauma resuscitation simulation with medical staff participation every six months;
- d) nurses who participate in pediatric trauma activation must have education in Emergency Nursing Pediatric Course (ENPC) or Pediatric Advance Life Support (PALS).

Other proposed trauma rules include necessary documentation on the pediatric patient such as Glasgow Coma Score (GCS), weight documented in kilograms only (no conversion from pounds to kilograms) and pain assessment.

Do you have a passion for caring for pediatric patients and a desire to improve pediatric care? If so, you could assist with the Pediatric Readiness at your facility. Please see the attached flyer for more information:

Support for Nurses!

ENA CARE PACKAGE

Recognizing the recovery and renewal process is in its early stages, ENA is doing its best to provide support to its members and the entire emergency nursing community.

Every ED nurse manages traumatic and emotional incidents differently. How they move forward is a personal journey. The attached ENA Care Package is our way of providing ED nurses additional ways to find support on that journey. The PDF has QR codes with free access (some might need to create a login) to courses on resiliency and coping skills, as well as free ENA memberships. For those interested in the membership, it provides an opportunity to engage in the ENA community of nurses who can offer an empathetic perspective.

To be clear, no nurse is under any obligation to partake in any of the courses or become a member – we just want to make these things available to your emergency nurses as a thank you and an acknowledgment that ENA cares for and supports all ED nurses, especially after a traumatic incident such as this.

Please share my thoughts and gratitude with your nurses and the entire emergency care team for their dedication during this difficult time.

Please let me know if there's anything we can do.

Thank you,
Chris Dillinger, MBA, BSN, RN, FAEN
2024 ENA President

To support you on your healing journey, ENA would like to offer complimentary access to its resources and peer community.

Local Government (from San Antonio website)

- The City of San Antonio passed the Domestic Violence Signage ordinance in October 2023. This local law helps more people find important domestic violence services and resources. The ordinance requires all public places to post domestic violence resource signs in restrooms used by visitors or employees by October 1, 2024. This may be the only private place a person experiencing domestic violence can scan a QR code or memorize a phone number to get help. San Antonio has one of the highest rates of domestic violence in Texas. We can help our neighbors break free from the cycle of abuse. How to Get the Sign: Metro Health will provide the required signage at no cost. For any questions or to get the sign, please call 3-1-1 or 210-207-6000 for assistance. You can also download the printable sign. Domestic Violence Sign \(PDF, 290KB\) Contact Phone 3-1-1 or 210-207-6000 . Sign Placement: All establishments must place the sign on the bottom right corner of the restroom mirror. If there is no mirror, or the mirror is smaller than 48 by 30 inches, then place the sign on the back of the restroom exit door at eye level or five feet above the floor. The sign should be placed in all female, male, unisex, and family restrooms used by the public or employees.

State Government Affairs

- How Texans voted in the May 2024 primary runoff by Carla Astudillo May 28, 2024. In 32 races during the March 5 primary, no candidate exceeded 50% of the vote, bringing about runoff races between the candidates who came in first and second. What you should know:
 1. House Speaker Dade Phelan won his runoff and survived a challenge by Texas GOP's far-right forces.
 2. School voucher supporters backed by Gov. Greg Abbott won several pivotal Texas House GOP runoff races, giving the governor a tentative majority in the lower chamber on his signature issue.

3. U.S. Rep. Tony Gonzales prevailed in his primary runoff against gun influencer Brandon Herrera. However, because he lost by only 407 votes, Herrera has requested a recount.
 4. Lauren Ashley Simmons declared victory over Texas Rep. Shawn Thierry, who broke with Democrats on LGBTQ+ votes.
 5. Severe storms knocked out power at North Texas voting sites.
- Six of eight GOP incumbents lost their races in the run-off election in May. Many held positions which helped nursing initiatives. Stephanie Klick, RN was Health Care Reform, Select; Human Services; Public Health — Chair lost her run-off. She was instrumental in getting the workplace violence bill passed. There were eight Democratic run-off races with one incumbent loss.
 - Our legislators play crucial roles in public health, policy-making, education, and beyond. Nurses have new opportunities in countless settings to start interactions with our legislators to communicate healthcare needs.

National Government Affairs (from Washington Update, May 2024)

- ENA Day on the Hill Brings Advocates to the Hill
Last month, more than 150 ENA members traveled to Washington, D.C., to advocate on behalf of emergency nurses and their patients on important legislation including the Workplace Violence Prevention for Health Care and Social Services Workers Act (H.R. 2663), the Safety From Violence for Healthcare Employees (SAVE) Act (S. 2768) and the Emergency Medical Services for Children Reauthorization Act (H.R. 6960/S. 3765). Prior to meeting with members of Congress and staff, attendees participated in training sessions including concurrent Government Relations 101 and 201 sessions designed to prepare beginner and experienced advocates, respectively, on legislative processes, political considerations and ways to get involved with ENA advocacy. A new afternoon session allowed attendees to utilize the day's training while working with other ENA members to develop specific meeting strategies based on a number of scenarios. According to initial reports, ENA members scheduled more than 150 meetings in the House and Senate this year – engaging in meaningful conversation and positively impacting support for ENA's most important public policy priorities.
- Supreme Court Hears Arguments Challenging Link Between EMTALA, Abortion Care
Following arguments last month, the Supreme Court is now weighing its decision in a case centered on a recently enacted Idaho law criminalizing abortions, with limited exceptions, at any stage of pregnancy and the law's relationship to EMTALA.

After the Supreme Court's 2022 decision in the Dobbs case overturned Roe v. Wade, putting abortion laws in the hands of state legislatures, the Biden administration set out to ensure pregnant women would have access to abortion during emergencies. That included sending guidance to hospitals about their obligation under EMTALA to provide abortion care if that is the stabilizing treatment required for the patient.

The Idaho statute provides only two exceptions: when abortion is necessary to protect the life of the mother and in cases of rape or incest. The Biden administration sued Idaho, asserting the new law conflicts with EMTALA by prohibiting physicians from providing reproductive care in certain emergency situations. The federal government also sought to prevent Idaho from enforcing its ban on abortions.

Under the preemption doctrine, federal law generally supersedes or preempts a conflicting state law. The administration's argument is that EMTALA's protections go beyond the exemptions set forth in the Idaho law and require stabilizing treatments not only when it is necessary to prevent death to the mother. Idaho's counterargument is the law is not in conflict with EMTALA, since the state seeks to protect the life of the unborn child, and the exceptions in the state law are sufficient. A ruling is expected in June.

Texas Board of Nursing - Continuing Education Requirements for RNs

All Texas RNs are reminded to review the Texas Board of Nursing's mandatory continuing education re-licensure requirements located on the website at https://www.bon.texas.gov/education_continuing_education.asp#D

There are several factors which must be kept in mind when reviewing the information on the website:

- Course content must meet the stipulation requirements of the Texas Board of Nursing
- The time frame or licensure cycle for repeating the requirement differs from course to course
- The RN's practice type and/or 'float unit' may determine if a nurse needs to take a course
- Advance Practice RNs (APRN) have additional course requirements than RNs
- Course requirements are not automatically met with certification
- Additional education requirements may be added at any time. These requirements are announced in the Texas Board of Nursing's Bulletin.

Current RN Requirements:

- Forensics Evidence Collection
- Older Adult and Geriatric Care
- Nursing Jurisprudence and Ethics
- *Human Trafficking Prevention

Must be an approved Texas HHS course.*

Current APRN Requirements:

- Pharmacotherapeutics
- Tick-Borne Diseases
- *Pain management and prescription of opioids
- *Prescription of opioids
- Authorization to receive information from the Texas Prescription Monitoring Program

 All APRNs with prescriptive authority authorized to prescribe opioids*
